

Westlake Park
- no football today.

Junction of Pound Lane and Burnt Mills Road. A tributary to the River Crouch runs along the side of Burnt Mills Road but floods because it cannot get under the A127 quickly enough.

The copse in the background was originally planted by Bryant & May to grow trees to make matches. However, more recently timber has been used for telephone/ electric poles.

Tree roots from the copse also absorb water to reduce flooding

Osborne Road – one of the original plotland roads.
